

College of Veterinary Medicine

Noriko Aoi

Assistant Professor

Department: Small Animal Clinical Sciences

Phone: 334-727-8436

Fax: 334-724-4842

E-mail: naoi@tuskegee.edu

EDUCATION/TRAINING

Institution and Location	Degree	Graduation Year	Major
Kitasato University	BVM	1998	Veterinary Medicine (equivalent to DVM)

TEACHING

- Small animal dentistry
- Small animal community practice rotation including clinical vaccinology, parasitology, preventative medicine and nutrition

RESEARCH INTERESTS

Clinical studies related to dentistry and diagnostics

RECENT PUBLICATIONS

1. "Effects of Heat Pretreatment Method on Heartworm Antigen Detection on Dogs," Phi Zeta Research Day, College of Veterinary Medicine, Tuskegee University, September 2018
2. "Comparison of Fecal Flotation and Centrifugation Techniques in the Most Common Intestinal Nematode Parasites in Dogs," Phi Zeta Research Day, College of Veterinary Medicine, Tuskegee University, September 2013
3. "Effectiveness of Training in Communication Skills for Fourth-year Veterinary Medical Students in TUSVM Small Animal Outpatient Rotation," Phi Zeta Research Day, College of Veterinary Medicine, Tuskegee University, September 2012

SERVICE ACTIVITIES

Clinician for Community Practice and Dentistry services at small animal Veterinary Medicinal Teaching Hospital